

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a device for production of a beverage by infusion of a ground substance for infusion, comprising an infusion chamber (2), for housing the ground product, a hot water circuit through said infusion chamber (2) and means for circulating the hot water in said circuit. The device is characterised in comprising means for reversing the flow of the hot water circuit through the infusion chamber (2).